OLNEY SNEERS
AND SMILES.

THE CAMERON RESOLUTION IS OF NO CONSEQUENCE.

SARCASM OF THE SECRETARY.

Cleveland Runs This Country, Despite the Mere Opinions of "Eminent Gentlemen."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Cameron Cuban resolution, if pressed to final passage in both houses, will constitute a direct and formidable issue between the Executive and legislative branches of the Government.
This is clearly indicated by the interview given out to-day by Secretary Olney, who said:

"I have no objection to stating my own view of the resolution respecting the independence of the so-called Republic of Cuba, which, it is reported, is to be laid before the Senate on Monday. Indeed, as there are likely to be serious misapprehensions regarding such resolution, both in this country and abroad, and as such apprehensions may have injurious results of a grave character, it is perhaps my duty to point out that the resolution, if passed by the Senate, can be regarded only as an expression of opinion by the eminent gentlemen who vote for it in the Senate, and, if passed by the House of Representatives, can only be regarded as another expression of opinion by the eminent gentlemen who vote for it in the House.

"The power to recognize the so-called Republic of Cuba as an independent State rests exclusively with the Executive. A resolution on the subject by the Senate or by the House, or by both bodies, or by one, whether concurrent or joint, is inoperative as legislation and is important only as advice of great weight voluntarily tendered to the Executive regarding the manner in which he shall exercise his constitutional functions.

"The operation and effect of the proposed resolutions, therefore, even if passed by both Houses of Congress by a two-thirds vote, are perfectly plain. It may raise expectations in some quarters which can never be realized. It may inflame popular passions both in this country and elsewhere, may thus put in peril the lives and property of American citizens who are resident and traveling abroad, and will certainly obstruct and perhaps defeat the best efforts of this Government to afford such citizens due protection. But, except in these ways and unless the advice embodied in the resolution shall lead the Executive to revise conclusions already reached and officially declared, the resolution will be without effect and will leave unaltered the attitude of this Government towards the two contending parties in Cuba."

The impression here is that Secretary Ol-ney's statement was called forth by a desire to minimize the danger of an outbreak in Spain on the part of the excitable populace, which is perhaps more imminent than is generally realized in this country. Nothing less than some such emergency, it is argued, would induce the Secretary to part so widely from his usual practice of refusing to comment publicly on foreign relations, particularly during the absence from Washington of the President. Of course, the latter is committed by the declaration of the first officer of his Cabinet to the view that Congress has no constitutional authority to recognize the independence of Cuba, for to abate anything of this assertion of power on his part would be construed as a recognition of the independence of Cuba, and probably would cause a crisis in the Cabinet.

So far as can be gathered from a cursory scanning of the records, there is no case that affords an exact precedent to this, for nowhere has the Executive and Congress directly differed and made an issue on the question of recognizing another nation. It has been tacitly admitted heretofore that, as Secretary Olney contends, this is a purely executive function, but Senator Cameron, the author of the resolution which has given rise to this issue, it is understood has made a most careful and exhaustive study of the constitutional aspects of the matter and is firmly convinced that Congress has power to proceed along the line of his resolution to recognize the new republic.

Of course, Secretary Olney's statement indicates clearly that if the joint resolution ever passes both branches of Congress and is sent to the President, the latter will veto it, not only on the ground of im-policy, but also because it constitutes an infringement of his own prerogatives. Moreover, the Secretary in his interview goes beyond this point, and in almost as many words says that no attention will be paid to the will of Congress in this matter, even if the resolution is passed over the President's veto. In this case a grave conflict of powers of two branches of the Government might be expected to follow, though just how the issue may be made up so that it can be reached by the Supreme Court, the arbiter of all questions of constitutionality, is not clear at present.
It is suggested, however, that if the issue goes to that length Congress may achieve its purpose indirectly by the exercise of

OUT OF JEALOUSY.

American Meats Are Barred From Zurich Markets.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The latest attack upon American meat products comes from the Canton of Zurich, Switzerland, where the meats have been shut out practically by the application of a regulation forbidding the use of boric acid to preserve them.
The Swiss Government has some indignation because it is owing to his own efforts that the United States Department with some induction to import American meats and build up a profitable business. He ascribes this attack entirely to the jealousy of local traders dealing in Swiss meats.

THE PRESIDENTIAL VOTE.

It Has at Last Been Officially Declared in all the States.

New York and Dakota were the last States to declare their official vote. The vote of those States having been ascertained, it is now possible for the first time to give the complete vote for President by States. It is as follows:

KILLERS OF THE PROCTORS.

They Propose to Give Wider Scope to Their Operations.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky., Dec. 18.—The mob which killed the Proctors here Thursday night, if reports are true, are determined to rid the county of a number of worthless and dangerous characters. It is said that at least twenty persons in different parts of the county have been notified to leave the county within fifteen days and that several are making preparations to go.

WOOL GROWERS.

Call for a Convention at Washington
Jan. 4.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 19.—A call has been issued for a meeting of representatives of all wool-growers and sheep-breeder's associations in the United States at the Eldorado Hotel, Washington, on Jan. 4. Two days later a hearing will be granted by the House Committee on Ways and Means.

BULLET CURES
DESPONDENCY.

J. M. GLOVER KILLED HIMSELF
BECAUSE HE HAD NO WORK.

EX-CONGRESSMAN'S BROTHER.

Got Up Early, Ate Breakfast With His Wife and Shot Himself in the Parlor.

James M. Glover shot himself in the right temple at his home, 6113 Aila avenue at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The bullet crashed into his brain and he died instantly.
When he fired the fatal shot he was seated in a rocking chair, alone, in the parlor.
He was sitting bolt upright, with the weapon clutched tightly in his hand, with staring eyes and the blood oozing from the ghastly wound when his wife discovered him and this was the end.

James M. Glover was a son of Simon T.
Glover, and a brother of ex-Congressman John M. Glover. He was 39 years old.
Three years ago he married Miss Lorrinda Doring. At the time of his marriage Glover was in the grocery business at 614 Wells avenue. Two years ago he met retirement and retired from business.

He could not find employment and constantly brooded over his misfortune. He had tried to get work on the suburban line and had made a few trips as conductor, but had not been able to secure permanent employment.

While Glover had appeared despondent for some time, his wife never thought his mind affected until Saturday morning. He arose quite early, before 6 o'clock, and complained of his head aching. His wife hurried breakfast and they ate the morning meal earlier than usual.

While Mrs. Glover was busy herself with her household duties her husband entered the parlor and sat moodily in his big rocking chair. Every few minutes Mrs.
Glover would step into the parlor and inquire how her husband felt. The expression on his face frightened her.

He had a wild, hunted look, as of an insane man, she said, but he did not talk a great deal, and said he was feeling better.
Mrs. Glover feared something was wrong and wrote a note, asking her mother to come and stay with her. She left the house with the note, intending to ask one of the neighbors to deliver it for her. She had scarcely reached the street when she remembered she had left the kitchen hydrant open and she ran up stairs to shut the water off.

As she passed the parlor door she involuntarily looked in. The sight she saw almost paralyzed her. Her husband was sitting in his chair with a bullet in his right temple.
In his right hand he grasped a revolver.
His head was thrown back. Blood streaming from a wound had trickled down the man's clothing, saturated it and had formed a pool at his feet.

She ran to her husband and saw he was dead. Then she shrieked from the house.
As she reached the pavement she fell unconscious to the ground.

Neighbors saw her and carried her into the house, not knowing what had happened to cause her to swoon. As they passed the parlor door they glanced in, and the horrible sight they saw explained the situation.

Powerful restoratives were applied and Mrs. Glover was soon brought back to consciousness.

When seen by a reporter Mrs. Glover was not able to sit up. She tried bravely to keep back the tears, and in tremulous tones she told of the incident leading to her husband's suicide. When told of finding the body she could not control her emotions and she fell back, weeping on her couch.

Their domestic life, she said, was a happy
one. In their three years of married life there were no disputes. She says her husband killed himself because he was dependent and could not find work.

BOILERS EXPLODED.

Disaster at a Woolen Mill With Three Fatalities.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 18.—Two boiler men in the Kent Woolen Co.'s mill at Centerville exploded to-day, killing three persons outright and fatally injuring another.
The dead are: William Brown, 39 years old; and Frederick J. Brown, 39 years old; and Arthur Brown, 39 years old, dye-house employe.

NATIONAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Louisville Named as the Place for the Next Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 18.—The Executive Committee of the National Municipal League to-day named Louisville as the place for holding the next annual convention. May 6, 8 and 9 are the dates at which the convention will be held.

STRIKERS GAME.

The Dockers at Hamburg Vote by a Large Majority to Continue Their Fight.

HAMBURG, Dec. 18.—A ballot taken by the striking dockers at five different meetings held to-day has resulted in 7,355 votes being cast in favor of a continuance of the strike and 3,671 against the strike contin-ing. The result, which was announced by Herr Legion, a member of the Reichstag, was received with vociferous cheering.

RUSSIAN IRON.

Production Increasing, but Is Not Equal to the Demand.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—From statistics submitted to the Department of State by United States Consul Stephen at Anna-berg, the total production of cast iron in Russia this year will amount to 1,600,000 tons, which is 150,000 tons more than last year. Notwithstanding this large increase in production, the home works are far from being able to meet the demand, owing to rapid railroad development, and 250,000 tons of pig iron were imported in the first half of this year.

HUELSMANN'S CASE.

The Carpenters' Brotherhood are performing a public service in exposing the methods of jobbery that have been pursued by the School Board and their contractors in employing workmen, and the fraudulent branch of false work with which labor that was involved in such jobbery.

The case of Huelsmann, who was put to work at 20 cents an hour instead of the 40 cents he was entitled to, in order that a contractor might get his rake-off, is only an example of the general way the School Board has been dealing with the workmen. The matter was exposed and the fraud.

It will not help their case for the School Board and their attorneys to brow-beat witnesses and ridicule testimony offered in relation to this fraud. The people look with suspicion upon all that they do or say. Their past conduct has prejudiced them in the public eye, and they will only be charged with adding insult to injury in bulldozing witnesses like Huelsmann.

Push this case in every way possible. It is time to stop such despicable practices by public officials and contractors doing public work.

BREAKING A MONOPOLY.

Some years ago the city of ALTON, Ill., granted some extensive and exclusive privileges to an association of men styling themselves a Terminal Company.

Under the terms of the ordinance this Association was empowered to levy toll upon railway traffic along the river front, which constitutes the natural railway terminal point of the city.

The growth of the railroad interests at Alton and the tremendous increase in exchange traffic at that point has led to an effort on the part of the Terminal Association to monopolize all the transfer privileges. But the public sentiment and business sense of Alton have forced the City Council to grant rights of way to such corporations as the Burlington and the Chicago & North Western.

Under the provisions that have been guarded with the provision that other railway companies seeking equal facilities shall use the tracks thus authorized. The Alton terminal monopoly is broken.

Modern business communities will not tolerate such trade repression as Terminal Associations inevitably force. Some years ago the citizens of Alton, headed by the Mayor and members of the Council, turned out one night and tore up two miles of sidetracks with which the Chicago & Alton blocked the entrance of a new and competing railroad line. Forbearance had ceased to be a virtue. The new road came in, and the old one was forced to close.

PLEA FOR ENLARGED POWERS.

The Interstate Commerce Commission still involved in hopeless and what appears to be endless litigation. In the annual report of the body, just made public, it is stated that the Commission now conducting twenty-two suits to force its regulating orders and sixty-four mandamus proceedings to compel the carriers to obey.

It is not strange that the Commission, in view of these conditions which have continued in increasing measure year to year, urge an amendment of a law defining and increasing their powers and giving them the authority to force their decrees.

There is little prospect, however, of such amendment as they propose and as the policy demands. The Chicago plan took strong ground in favor of extending the powers of the Commission.

The McKinley platform was silent on the entire question of Interstate Commerce. The election of Mr. McKinley, we take it, will give the railroad lobby at Washington the argument it needs, not only to defeat the amendment but to strike out the present anti-pooling clause in the law.

If the Interstate Commerce law and Commission cannot be mended they should be ended. The Commission, as the case stands, is utterly powerless to serve the people as against the corporations.

ABSORBING THE BOLTERS.

All of the members of the bi-partisan committees appointed at Springfield to take charge of the inauguration ceremonies next month who are not Republicans of long standing are men who voted for McKinley on the party question.

It is hardly to be supposed that this exclusion of Democrats is accidental. The act bears all the marks of premeditation. It probably indicates the policy to be pursued by Gov. Tanner in the constitution of the bi-partisan Boards of State. That is its only significance, and the only thing making it worthy of comment.

It may be of advantage to Illinois Republicanism to cement the alliance between that party and renegade Democrats. It is questionable, however, whether the complete obliteration of old party lines in the State will not drive more Republicans into the Democratic ranks than the late election took out of them.

Illinois Republicanism in the rural districts has always been steadfast, as a result not only of conviction but of intense partisan prejudice. Whether the prejudice on the part of the Democrats in the face of a question vitally affecting the interest of this class of stalwart Republican voters is the problem to be solved.

We take it that it is the Republican policy in Illinois to absorb the bolters. It is a policy which Democrats will encourage, and, as far as possible, assist.

THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

To-morrow's Post-Dispatch will contain a large number of specially prepared articles which cannot fail to interest its thousands of readers. Christmas will be met next Friday, and in anticipation of it several features will be introduced.

Appropos of the season, then, there will be the Fun pages—they will have many Christmas features; the Woman's page, the Bicycle and Sporting page, and the other department pages, to say nothing of the editorial department, which covers the field completely, both at home and abroad. In short, the Sunday Post-Dispatch will be indispensable to all who would keep abreast of the times.

A few of the features to which attention is called are:

"Use Us As You See Us"—A beautiful Christmas design and poem, illustrated by Russell.

"Christmas Is Coming"—A poem descriptive of the Christmas of the colored brother 'way down South, beautifully illustrated by Russell.

"Dr. Dore's Sermon"—To our Readers: The eminent St. Louis divine and reformer will address a few Christmas thoughts to the thousands of readers of the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The Happiest Christmas They Ever Spent—Prominent St. Louisians tell of the merriest midwinter holiday they remember, and why.

Cuba From Its Discovery to the Present Time—The first of a series of timely articles on Cuba; to include a review of its history, geography, population, etc., its various futile attempts to throw off the Spanish yoke, and a résumé of the present struggle for liberty from its inception to the assassination of the patriot Maceo.

Christmas Among the Rich and Poor—Sharp contrasts between the banquets in the West End and at the swell hotels, and among the poorest and lowliest. Illustrated.

The Ray Surpassed—Discovery of a new and marvelous light which penetrates all known substances and which promises to revolutionize electrical science. Illustrated.

In the Master's Name They Do These Things—The life of the sisters and nuns of Catholic institutions dispense charity to the poor and homeless. Illustrated.

The Origin of Christmas—A contributed article which shows that the day was celebrated centuries before the Christian era and was adopted from the Pagans.

The Wisdom of Old John—Being the history of the above-named man in the city, who is now enjoying in his old age the reward of virtue. With John's picture.

The New Woman in Old London—The Britishers startled by the appearance of the new woman as gardener, clad in regulation trousers. Illustrated.

Lots of Money in the Hobo-Long Island constables have discovered a way of making handsome incomes out of tramps and vagrants.

A Man With a Petrified Foot—An ex-cowboy who has a stone foot on a living leg, and uses it for a whetstone.

Killing of the Dispatch—Eighty-five thousand being killed in a single year, India has been forced to take measures to prevent the extinction of the huge beast.

The Champion Bone Collector—How crazy Jim Kilfoyle made a fortune while his neighbors were laughing at his folly.

A New Danger for the Hobo—The turkey has now turned like the worm, and may now be used as a defender of his master's premises.

There will be many other interesting features, but space is too limited to permit of a complete inventory being given here.

The demand of the lumbermen for higher tariff rates for their product is meeting with a good deal of adverse comment. Like many others the lumbermen supposed the election of Mr. McKinley would mean a bounty for everybody but the consumer, and they now very naturally get together to make arrangements to get a share of the good things. Moderate tariff legislation would carry grief to many hearts loyal to Republicanism for what there is in it.

It cannot be hoped that in a climate so warm as that of India the corn of America will ever become a favorite article of food, but while the famine is on it might be well received.

It is difficult to conceive of any Pennsylvania looking about going into the barbed wire with the lumbermen and the men in blouses. It is certain that Matt Quay has announced himself as that kind of a man.

The Cameron resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba declares that the United States will use its friendly offices with Spain to bring the war to a close. It is likely, however, that the Spaniards will have some misgivings as to our friendship for them. If they could get a European ally their war vessels would be thundering on our coast this very 19th of December.

Senator Vest is right. It is absurd to talk about Mr. D. R. Francis being able to influence the election of a Democratic Senator in Missouri. The only way in which Mr. Francis or any of the Bollocks can lessen the chances of a Democratic candidate for any office in Missouri is by supporting him. It has been proven that their open and avowed support is very damaging.

There is said to be terror among the members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania lest Mr. Quay shall investigate the election of Mr. Wanamaker if that good man should be chosen Senator. Mr. Quay's knowledge of election machinery makes him an expert political detective, and the legislative alarm is fully warranted.

Senator Culom thinks that all the President's eleven hundred nominations should be rejected. He does not think that Democratic bolters are holding offices that Republican workers want. Nobody seems to feel friendly toward the bolters.

With an Ohio man in the White House, an Ohio man leading the Republicans in the House of Representatives, and another Ohio man controlling both these other Ohio men, we shall have a sufficiency of Buckeye ideas in the ensuing four years.

Senator Cameron will leave the Senate with the Cuban recognition resolution as his badge of honor. It is a much greater honor than having his name tacked to a bill taxing one part of his countrymen for the benefit of another part would be.

Will the silver Senators vote for Forman's confirmation to please Senator Palmer, whose little show is so fresh in the memory of every one who paid any attention to the plots and intrigues of the campaign?

Between the clamor for a duty on every imaginable product and the importunities of the thousands expecting office under a new administration, the country is not going to be very quiet for a while.

"A Vesuvius eruption of political scandals" has been illuminating Pennsylvania since the Senatorial contest began. It is to be hoped that good-man Wanamaker will not be lost in the lava beds.

One of the men lynched in Kentucky yesterday had been tried three times for murder. Lynch law naturally follows when murderers cannot be punished through the courts.

Should Carter Henry Harrison become Dr. Chicago's next president, he would be the ally and scold the people for throwing out rubbish, as his lamented father did?

As Mr. McKinley looks out over the Great Dismal Lake at Chicago he may realize something of the sea of troubles upon which he is about to embark.

Doubtless Mr. McKinley wishes that no more appointments were expected from him than are looked for from Gov. Stephens.

Gen. Weyer is a high tariff man, but he has the defense that his tariff is not to be hoped that good-man Wanamaker will not be lost in the lava beds.

Prophet Hicks' December earthquake prediction took in England neatly. Mr. Bull will do well to cultivate Hicks.

The Arbuckles having resolved to take sugar with their coffee, the Sugar Trust is trying to crush the competition.

If there were another Presidential election next week the slump from McKinley and Hanna would be immense.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

From the New York Press.

There aren't near enough married lovers. It isn't only microbes that make kissing dangerous.

When a man seems to have a grudge against ministers you can be sure he's married.

A woman is just as likely as not to wear a handsome skirt over a soiled and draggled petticoat on a nice day.

Some men get a reputation for being fast by looking wise and shrugging their shoulders whenever you speak of a popular actress.

Upright and Courageous.

From the Miami (Mo.) News.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, vertement of 1897. By its upright and courageous course in the recent campaign, denouncing coercion and fraud in every form, the Post-Dispatch earned the support of everyone who believes in freedom and independence in journalism.

Familiarity Breeds Contempt.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Don't you think you are letting Ethel associate with the servants? You know a child so easily picks up their incorrect ways of speech."

"I know that; but I want her to get so familiar with servants that she will not be afraid of them when she has a house of her own."

It Will Do.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Do you believe in platonic affection?" "It does very well for a starter."

BOOKS.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

These are my friends. With them shall I abide. And in the circle of their friendship move, Oh! I have loved them with my heart and love, And have been the objects of my pride.

And fondest passion when all earth beside To me seemed cold and cheerless. Like a dove My heart has brooded o'er them from above, Until their very names are defined.

Let cold, belated scorn ye, O my friends! And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still, And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still.

And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still, And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still.

And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still, And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still.

And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still, And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still.

And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still, And do not deem me false, for I have loved you, and I love you still.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE.

Let Us Suppose.

From the Washington Post.

The organs of gold monometallism as a permanent policy continue their opposition to the carrying out of the Republican pledge to a coinage ratio between the two money metals. In so doing these organs display ill-temper and bad manners. Some of them apply very coarsely to the prominent Republican bimetallicists, and all of them advocate the violation of a solemn compact.

And they display something more than ill-temper and bad manners. They exhibit a lack of political sagacity, which would, if they could control the action of Mr. McKinley and his party, be extremely likely to bring about, in a few years, "the free, unlimited, and independent" coinage plan embodied in the Chicago platform, and voted for by more than 6,000,000 citizens.

Those organs, without any warrant whatever, assume that the Republican triumph of last month was a national verdict against silver for all time to come, and in favor of gold monometallism forever and a day. The truth is, as they know, as everybody knows, that of the almost 14,000,000 votes cast, only the 150,000, more or less, that went for Palmer and Buckner were given for gold monometallism as a permanent policy. The party that won the victory achieved its triumph, not as the enemy, but as the friend of silver, and the Democratic party to have taken the silver, who all of these black felt hats have elected?

These organs of gold monometallism allege as a reason why the Republican party should break its pledge that there is no chance of securing an international agreement, and the Democratic party to have taken the silver, who all of these black felt hats have elected?
